THOSE PREE SEATS.

Once more the Centennial magnates bave been obliged to knuckle under.

There will be free seats for women and children on the Union Square stand or there'll be no Union Square stand. Thus sayeth the Mayor.

Here's official gallantry and pluck worthy of a knight of old.

OFFICIAL LAND-GRABBERS.

The outrageous conduct of the Govern ment officials in Oklahom taking advantage of their presence in the newly opened Territory to stake out claims in advance of the arrival of those who were kept out until a certain time by law needs to be rebuked by the authorities at Washington,

Any official detected in such flagrant violation of official decency, should be summarily removed from office.

HARD TO SATISFY.

MUNDANE MATTERS

It is somewhat paradoxical to remark that hese are cold days for crooks when the police are making it so hot for them.

The Legislature, in the matter of certain bills affecting this city, is certainly indulging in rapid transit.

The Centennial crowd will probably grow very fast after such a profuse watering.

There can be no doubt of the true Americanism of the Oklahoma boomers. Just as soon as they laid down their gripsacks in their new home they proceed to prepare for an election,

Mr dear Miss C. Wil: you have me? A Present of Himself.

The Bible says it is not good for man to be alone. It is good, however, for him to be a present. Will you accept the gift of myself r

Dear Miss Columbia I have been unable to call on you since that eventful evening ween I left your domicile in not haste, materially assisted by your father the bulidog and a club. But though I have been absent, my heart has always been with you absent, my heart has always been with you.

Knowing the demoniacal rage and freney into which your paternal relative is thrown at sight of me, you will not wonder why I take this means of asking you the following question: Will you "hook" and go down the thorny pathway of life with me until we reach that beautiful haven—the divorce court? Hoping, with a wild unshackled hope, that you will return a favorable answer, I remain.

J. DIMGLEWHACKER SPUDS.

Love at First Sight.

You will, I trust, forgive this abrupt and plainly spoken letter. Although I have been in your company but once I cannot forbear writing to you, in defiance of all rules of etiquette, to you, in defiance of all rules of etiquette. Affection is sometimes of slow growth, but sometimes it springs up in a moment. I left you last night with my heart no longer my own. I cannot, of course, hope that I have created any interest in you; but will you do me the favor to allow me to cultivate your acquaintance? Hoping that you may regard me favorably, I shall wait with much anxiety your reply. I remain yours devotedly,

His Future Happiness.

The most important step a man takes in life in otting married. He should choose for his wife s lady who can grace both parlor and kitchen. She should be a wife to encourage and respect her husband. The lady should be careful in selecting her husband. He must be honest and tender. We, my dear, who have known each other from birth, need no recital of each other's faults or virtues. We are both young and have seen only the bright side of life. Is it strange that I should wish to have you by my side through life? You who have been so tender and so kind to me; such a dear sister, always ready to encourage and praise; only consuring when necessary, and then so mildy and womanly. Let us go through this world hand in hand; richer or poorer; in sickness or health. In you lies my future happiness and success, but should I have been mistaken in believing you return my love, do not let your pity influence you, as my sole desire is your future happiness. I shall call to-mornow evening for my answer. Let it be what your heart dictates.

Tastes Are Similar.

I doubt if the receipt and perusal of this note vill surprise you. My actions during the past Winter must have revealed the state of my feelings. I hope-and am conceited enough to ings. I hope—and am conceited enough to think—that I am not distasteful to you. Our tastes are similar. I think I could make you happy and am certain you could make me so. I love you devotedly. Will you be my wife? Although I do not intend to impute mercenary motives to you, I think it no more than right to state that my income will enable me to support a wife in the style to which you have been accustomed. Hoping to receive the answer I assently desire, I am truly yours.

WORLD REPRESENTATIVE.

ROYAL HONORS

Ropublicans Are Cettlag the Lion's Share They May, and Gov. Hill Will Not Be Acting Loyally if He Signs the Two-Headed Commission Bills-Warnings to Passett, Hendricks and Sloan.

What representative County Democracy men think of the recent legislation at Albany, which practically deprives of their places goodly share of the office-holding contingent of that political organization is of peculiar interest now. Ex-Senator James Daly, who has been sort of oracle of the County Democrats, said this morning :

"It is an unholy deal, wholly indefensible and reprehensible. It is remarkable that not and reprehensible. It is remarkable that not one word was said in defense of the legislation, either by the Republicans who profit by it or by representatives of the faction of the city Democracy which sanctioned it.

"I predict that Senators Fassett, Hendricks and Sloan will live to regret their participation in the deal, as they did the legislating of the Mayor and Comptroller out of the Aqueduct Board in 1886.

"There can be no argument in favor of dual-bended commissions. With them there is absolutely no responsibility upon either party represented on the Commission, and the interests of the public will suffer accordingly.

party represented on the commission, and the interests of the public will suffer accordingly.

"I sincerely hope that Gov. Hill will not stuitify himself by sanctioning the legislation with his signature. He has endeared himself to the Democracy of the whole country by his well-known declaration, 'I am a Democrat,' and he should not now spoil all his bright prospects for the future by allying himself with our National enemies, the Republicans, with the implied announcement, 'I am a spoilsman.'"

Police Justice Maurice J. Power, the recognized leader of the Counties, said:

"It seems to me that the Republicans have the best of this deal. They cannot be blamed for securing this advantage, but the men who have betrayed the interests of the Democratic majority of this city will have to answer for their baseness.

"There is no reason under heaven why the Republicans should secure half the congret to say, is cataract of the eye.

majority of this city will have to answer for their baseness.

"There is no reason under heaven why the Republicans should secure half the controlling influence in the municipal government or any of its departments, when the people at the polls have declared that they should not have it.

"This betrayal of the people's confidence, you may depend on it, will be purished."

IT CHANGES THE SLATE.

LARGE POSSIBILITY THAT STEVE FRENCH

BE NOT REAPPOINTED. The bills creating double-headed, non-partisan Park and Police Boards and that providing for four new police justiceships have made a decided change in the appointment slate for May 1. There seems to be an opinion which, if not general, is shared by many that Police Commissioner Stephen B. French will not be retained as the Republican half the Board.

Subway Commissioner Jacob Hess has been Subway Commissioner Jacob Hess has been spoken of for this fat herth, but he emphatically denies the rumor. He says:

"I wouldn't be a Police Commissioner if I could. There was a time when the height of my ambition was to fill that position, and I thought I was going to get it. I was given a Charity Commissionership instead. Since then all my old-time longing to assist in running the Police Department has fled."
It is asserted by some knowing ones that the Department has fied."

It is asserted by some knowing ones that the readiness with which Mr. Hess resigns his well-known ambition to become a Police Commissioner is because he has some assurance of becoming a Police Justice.

The elevation of Hess to the Police Bench is to be accomplished, it is said, by Police Justice Jacob Patterson's retirement to become the Republican member in the two-headed Police Board.

[From the Chicago Nesse.]
The trouble on the baseball diamonds of this great Republic has begun in earnest, and the is as picturesque as ever and brimful of enthu-siasm. Behold a few samples of his work culled from the Sunday newspapers:

'The ball went up shricking."

'A sound like the snapping of a mainmast told that Carroll had made another three-base hit."

'The ball tore over the field, churning the air into sparks, it seemed, and droning like a circular saw."

circular saw."
"Hanlon slapped his bat on the neck of a ball."

It is evident that the boys are in good form, and if they do not succeed in making their stories of the bail field sufficiently startling to jar the attention of the captious public it will be the fault of the English language, and not theirs.

JENES DREAM.

It was really the leading rele of "The Brigand," and Rudolph Aronson was anxious to have secured Fred Lealis, of the London Gaiety Company for its interpretation. As, however, Mr. Lealie's contract would not permit of his appearance at the Casino, the part was given to Mr. Daboll.

Edwin Stevens, of the "Said Pasha" Company, is now to play the part. This will be a great opportunity for Mr. Stevens, who is a sort of a modified De Wolf Hopper. Jenks had a queer dream the other night. He thought he saw a prise-fighters' ring, and in the middle of it stood a doughty little champion who mot and deliberately knocked over, one by one, a score or more of big, burly-looking fellows, as they advanced to the attack. Giants as they were in size, the valiant pigmy proved more than a match for them. It was all so funny that Jenks woke up laughing. He accounts for the dream by the fact that he had just come to the conclusion, after trying nearly every big, drastic pill on the market, that Pierce's Piessant Purgative Pellets, or tiny Sugar-coated Granules, easily "knock out" and beat all the big pills hollow! They are the original and only genuice Little Liver Pills.

Beware of Imkations, which contain Poissonous Minerals. Always ask for Dr. Pierce's Pelicta, which are Little Sugar-coated Pills, or Anti-bilious Granules.
